Hi Niki. Were you aware that a few years ago my father threatened to kidnap my daughter from me? Because I wanted to protect her from being exposed to his abusiveness?

He also went on to blame me for the abuse he perpetrated against me as a child, and blamed each woman he's been with for why he has hit them and abused them.

At 18, he told me that I was going to end up as a hooker on the street

As a child, he thought it would be funny to pretend to hit me, before he delivered a beating for accidentally peeing the bed as a small child.

I'm not sure how you know him

But if you have never bared witness to his abusive, vindictive and selfish behaviours, then lucky you. I am not sure there is a single person he has not verbally or physically abuse all of his life until I cut him out of mine at least.

No. I know y'all have had some differences. And that he has anger issues. But I also know that you are safely far enough away that you can completely control any interaction.

He is a toxic human being, as is my mother.

I told him he was dead to me the day he threatened to kidnap my daughter. And that still stands.

Thank you for delivering his message for him and I bare no ill-will to you for doing so.

He has been going to therapy, if that helps any. So, at least trying to improve.

Thanks again, Niki. You're a good friend to do this for him, but I have forgiven him so many times, went thousands of dollars into debt to be by his side when he nearly died 9 years ago
